U. S. AMBASSADOR TO JAPAN DIES TUESDAY FOLLOWING ILLNESS

Edgar A. Bancroft Was Appointed to Post Last Fall

TOKYO, July 29.—Edgar Addison Bancroft, 68 years old, United States Ambassador to Japan, died Tuesday night at Karuzawa, a popular mountain resort in central Japan where he was passing the summer. The Ambassador's death came after an illness of three weeks.

Restoratives failed last night when a collapse came after a period of what physicians thought was convalescence. Mr. and Mrs. George Pond, Chicago close friends of the Ambassador, and Dr. Ikeda were with Mr. Bancroft when he died.

Mr. and Mrs. Pond will bring the body of the Ambassador to Tokyo for return to the United States, it was announced today.

Ambassador Bancroft was sent to the important Tokyo post last November by President Coolidge. Previous to his entry into diplomatic circles he was a noted attorney and was President of the Chicago and Illinois State Bar Associations.

GIRL SHOTS YOUTH FOLLOWING QUARREL DURING AUTO RIDE

Boy Fights For Life In Hospital While Girl Is In Jail

Columbus, O., July 29.—Viola Rossi, 19, petite and pretty, is held in a cell at city prison here today while Russell Eggers, 20, Columbus fights for his life at Mount Carmel Hospital. He has a bullet wound through his body just below the heart.

The girl was taken in custody by the police following a quarrel with Eggers. She is said to have staged last night in his automobile five miles south-west of the city and during which Eggers is alleged to have drawn a revolver. The youth and girl fought for the possession of the weapon and during the row, Eggers was shot, according to the story told the police.

The Rossi girl called a physician and Eggers was rushed to Mount Carmel Hospital where attendants today said Eggers condition was favorable.

GIANT HUNGARIAN IS LEADING RIFFS

Madrid, July 29.—A towering Hungarian—six feet, six inches in height—a veteran of the Austro-Hungarian navy, the soviet Hungarian army and a deserter from the Spanish foreign legion, is the mainstay of the Rifian staff in Morocco, the Spanish army intelligence corps announced today.

He is Arpad Czulay Sarkantus, chief of Abd-El-Krim's general staff. He was born in Koloszevar Klausenburg, the capital of Transylvania, now part of Roumania. He was a sailor in the Austro-Hungarian fleet and during the Hungarian soviet regime from March to August, 1919, came to notice as a sub-lieutenant in the Hungarian army.

With the fall of the soviet structure he returned to Transylvania but poverty brought him back to his old calling of arms.

His huge stature, his energy and his craft soon brought him to the attention of the Rif chieftain and he was raised to his present position.

VISCOUNT AND BRIDE WILL TOUR CANADA

Montreal, Que., July 29.—Viscount George St. John Dunsford, oldest son of the Earl of Middleton, and his bride, the former Mrs. Guinevere Gould, were today planning a tour of Canada and the United States before sailing for England where they will make their home. The bride's three children, who share in the Gould fortune, are at present living in England.

The new viscountess seemed radiantly happy when she and her husband were interviewed in their hotel here today. They refused to give any details of their acquaintance before marriage beyond saying they had known each other for a long long time.

Threshing Season Finds Grain Crops Here Good

WATCH IS REWARDED

Logan, July 29.—There is more than one way to trap auto thieves. If you don't believe it, ask Joe Farbean, Hocking County's speed cop.

There has been an epidemic of stripping of wrecked cars along the highways. Joe set out to stop it.

Farbean watched one wrecked car all night and made two arrests. Both men were caught looting the machine, he said.

THREE CANDIDATES ELIGIBLE FOR POST AS POLICE OFFICER

Railroad Employees Top List of Ten Applicants, All Colored

The names of William Anderson, 30, George H. Robinson, 37, and Alphonso Saunders, 38, all colored, of Xenia, were contained in an eligible list certified to City Manager S. O. Hale Wednesday for appointment to the position of regular patrolman in the Xenia police department following a civil service examination held Tuesday night.

The examination was held in the office of Attorney W. L. Miller, president of the civil service commission, in the Allen Building.

Ten applicants, all colored, took the examination for patrolman to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Patrolman Charles Simms.

City Manager S. O. Hale has not announced when he will make the appointment. Following the policy of the police department, a colored man will be selected.

The eligible applicants are all employed on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Those taking the examination were James Smith, Walter Scott, Elvia Sullinger, Hugh Williamson, Ernest Haynes, B. C. Cunningham, Joseph E. Cotton, Anderson, Robinson and Saunders.

Wheat Harvests Well In Spite of Late Freeze, Says Expert—Condition Indicates Prosperous Period For Greene County Farmers Coming

Greene County farmers are busy now threshing their crops of wheat which happily turned out to be better than it was thought after the killing frosts of the late spring.

Despite the fact that hundreds of acres were torn up after the sudden freezing weather swept this section of the state, and damaged the grain that was left

BRYAN CAMPAIGNED FOR DRY LAW UNDER GUARD SAYS PASTOR

Fearless of Threats Of 'Reds' To Kill Him Eulogy Discloses

COLUMBUS, July 29.—William Jennings Bryan finished the famous 1917 campaign in support of ratification of the federal prohibition amendment under bodyguard and fearless of threats which had been made by New York "reds" to kill him, the Rev. William M. Hindman, Columbus, former pastor of Bryan's First Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Neb., revealed here while speaking in eulogy of Bryan at an outing of Ohio State employees.

Dr. Hindman said he was traveling with Bryan at the time and that he arranged for the body guard. He said newspapermen accompanying the party did not know of the arrangements.

"The 'reds' of New York had secretly determined to kill Bryan during the campaign, a declaration which was confirmed by secret service men," Dr. Hindman said. "Mr. Bryan declared he had no fears, and that it was a good cause in which to die. Nevertheless, I took the precaution to procure a body guard, a man of excellent ability as a marksman, whose courage had been tested as an officer on many occasions who carried on his body six wounds. By doing so I followed the scriptural injunction, 'Faith without works is dead.'" to stand, Greene County wheat is fine in quality and quantity.

Wheat is in fine condition, corn is good, there is a good crop of oats and crop conditions in general over the county are in good shape, according to Fred R. Keeler, Smith-Hughes teacher in Central High School and crop specialist.

Splendid fields of corn are ripening over the county. This section of the state is far in advance of land farther north and the corn fields are in fine condition, it is said.

The oats crops is larger this year, due to a large quantity being planted in the fields where the wheat was torn up after the frosts had killed the grain. Good oats conditions are general over the county.

The hay crop in the county is short this year, due to the extremely dry periods. In some localities the crop is good but farmers have commented on the general shortage.

The drought has also affected the pasture land, and many dry stretches have replaced the green lands for cattle grazing. Vegetables have suffered from the dry weather and farmers and gardeners are working hard to make the crops on an average with other years. There has been no report of any vegetable suffering a severe loss from the drought, however.

Fruit conditions are generally good over the county and vicinity. The late frosts interfered with the crops to some extent, but the fruits are rapidly ripening and are of good quality.

Apples grown at the Stryker and Paget fruit farm, southeast of Xenia, are not as many in number as in previous years, but are on par in quality it is said. The peaches are particularly good at this farm this year, and the same is true of the plums which suffered little from the cold weather.

The apple crop was shortened by the unusually heavy crop of last year, it is said.

The frosts wrought the worst damage on the grape vines and only half a crop as compared with other years will be harvested at the Stryker and Paget place.

Blackberries and other berries were affected by the frosts and while the former fruit, is not normal in quantity the quality is excellent, the growers say.

Sorrowing Relatives With Casket Bound For Capital

Remains Taken From Rogers Home Early and Placed On Special Car—Daytonians Pay Last Tribute—Washington Awaits Cortège.

DAYTON, TENN., July 29.—William Jennings Bryan, the commoner, probably the most beloved man who ever sojourned in this little town, left Dayton today for the last time.

Just three weeks from the day that he arrived, vigorous and full strengthened, to prosecute John Thomas Scopes for teaching evolution, his body was carried out of the now historical spot that saw the last great fight of a life filled with battle.

The regular local to Chattanooga pulled out of the little red station soon after breakfast. Attached to it were two additional cars, one carrying the flag draped casket and the sorrowing relatives, the other bearing the newspapermen with whom the commoner had often bandied words. At Chattanooga the cars will be attached to a train for Washington. It will reach the capital tomorrow and burial will take place Friday in Arlington National Cemetery.

The same people who "crowded the depot three weeks ago to welcome a man whom they considered their religious as well as their political mentor were gathered there again today to pay a final mark of respect to his memory. To the people of east Tennessee, Bryan has died a martyr to the cause of revealed religion as he and they understood it.

They came to see the great bronze casket taken from the hearse and loaded on the train. They had expected a simple but impressive funeral procession from the home of Richard Rogers in the south part of town, where he died on Sunday.

But it was simpler than even they, a simple people, had thought. When the two special cars pulled into the station to be hitched on the local, the casket and members of the funeral party were already aboard and not visible to the throng that stood silent and uncovered on the platform.

In the early morning hours, the two cars had been switched to a siding at a railroad crossing, a block back of the Rogers home. Silently the casket had been borne out of the home, where yesterday hundreds had passed through and gazed for the last time on the features of the commoner, and placed aboard the funeral car.

There were no attendants, other than the men who bore the heavy casket, and no mourners. Few in Dayton knew of it. An hour later, Mrs. Bryan, the widow and her party boarded the car, similarly without attracting notice. By the time the car got to the station, none of those most deeply affected were visible to the throng of townspeople on the platform. Mrs. Bryan had wished it so. She desired to leave Dayton quietly and without ostentation or show. The casket rested in an observation car. Floral tributes banked one end of the compartment, having been brought from the Rogers house.

There were tributes from the Progressive Dayton club, from the attorneys who were associated with him in the Scopes trial, from many citizens of Dayton and from the countryside. Many more such tributes, from cities and places far beyond the crest of the Cumberland hills, were waiting at Chattanooga—enough to fill several cars.

With Mrs. Bryan to comfort her on the long dreary journey to the capital a trip that can only be compared to the trip that Mrs. Warren G. Harding underwent in 1923, went a small group of relatives and friends the majority of whom had been in Dayton from the outset of the commoner's stay here. The most immediate relatives were Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, a daughter and her husband, Reginald Owen; Mrs. B. Sherman Jennings, widow of a former governor of Florida and a kinswoman of the Bryans and her son, Bryan Jennings. There were also in the immediate party, W. E. Thompson, secretary to Bryan, Miss F. Stevens, Mrs. Bryan's companion in her invalidism; William E. McCartney, the chauffeur who found the commoner dead; R. J. Coulter, the Dayton undertaker and Wallace Haggard, who represents the Scopes prosecution and the city of Dayton.

Mrs. Bryan, although an invalid, appeared to be bearing up this morning with the same remarkable fortitude she has shown since Sunday. She has been much affected by the attention Dayton has paid her and her dead. Again and again she has expressed her appreciation. She was particularly impressed with the fact that at no time since Bryan's death last Sunday afternoon has the Rogers house been without at least one of the four local lawyers associated with the commoner in the evolution case. Through day and night either one of the "Hicks boys," Wallace Haggard or Gordon McKenzie were constantly on duty.

Washington, July 29.—Arrangements for the funeral and burial here on Friday of William Jennings Bryan moved toward completion today.

When the body arrives here at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, it will be taken to the undertaking parlors of John T. Wright at 1337 Tenth Street, N. W., there to rest until Friday afternoon when funeral services will be held at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, where Bryan worshipped while secretary of state.

The services will be in charge of the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the church, who is returning here from Chaumont, N. Y.

The body will be taken from the undertakers to the church at ten a. m., Friday to await time for the funeral.

William Jennings Bryan, Jr., and his sister, Mrs. Grace Hargreaves, are due to reach Washington from the Pacific coast Friday morning to join their mother and other relatives.

The commoner's brother, former Governor Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, is also expected here tonight or tomorrow. Many of the details of the funeral are being held in abeyance until the arrival here of Mrs. Bryan.

The war department has taken no steps to participate officially in the funeral, but stands ready to accord Colonel Bryan full military honors should Mrs. Bryan approve.

The suit reveals a secret marriage in 1921 between Sterling Myer, Jr., young son of Myer, then a student at Yale University, to Miss Stureman at Battle Creek, Mich., where the Myer family was passing a vacation. The complaint charges that subsequently the young husband in 1922 refused to live with his bride.

Mrs. Myer and her mother declare in their petition that the separation was brought about by the parents of the young husband. The parents, the document recites, offered to double his allowance, give him a car and send him to a school of his own selection if he would disown his wife.

The Myers are prominent in Houston society.

INCREASE PROMISED IN PROSPERITY FOR 1925-6 CROP SEASON

O. E. Bradfute Predicts Jump From Recent Depression Period

CHICAGO, July 29.—American farmers will have an income of $10,000,000,000 for the new crop year, O. E. Bradfute, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation of Xenia, O., said today. His statement followed completion of crop survey.

This is healthy increase and will be the second "good year" Bradfute asserted. "It is a remarkable jump from the low point in agricultural depression reached in the crop season of 1921-1922, when the farmers' total income amounted to only $7,500,000,000.

"While the new crop season is only four weeks old, conditions all point to a record-breaking year. Last year showed a decided turn for the better in many parts of the country, and the coming crop year, which ends next June 30, should be even better.

BIG INCREASE SEEN
"In 1922-23, the farmers' total income was $9,000,000,000. The crop season of 1923-24 brought the farmer $9,500,000,000, and the crop season which ended June 30 of this year brought around $9,750,000,000.

"The bureau figures therefore indicate that, with anything like favorable weather conditions, the coming season will bring into the farm-house more than $10,000,000,000," he said.

Bradfute explained the farmers' income at approximately $2,000,000,000 less than the government.

The government includes in its estimates the produce consumed on the farm.

A bumper corn crop, with high prices for hogs and cash corn and rising prices for cattle are features which make Bradfute optimistic for the corn belt. This is offset to a certain extent by the shortage in the hog crop.

WHEAT CROP SHORT
"The Pacific coast, which last year suffered from drought and frost, reports a much better outlook for the new season," he said.

The wheat crop is short. The wheat states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas will suffer at least a 10 per cent drop over their last year's returns.

"In the east cotton belt—in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee, general crop conditions were reported good.

"The dairy outlook is greatly improved. Prices are rising and production is not expanding. The great dairy sections of the northeast will have their best year of the past three, particularly in New England and New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania."

GOOD ROADS MEN TO MEET IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, July 29.—Administration and engineering committees of the Ohio Good Roads Federation, charged with the task of studying highway problems in an effort to forecast future needs of state highway pavements, will meet here Thursday to draft preliminary plans for their investigation. A report will be submitted to the Federation in October.

Members of the committees are: Administration—C. H. Bryson, Athens chairman; W. L. Robinson, Mt. Vernon; G. A. Weddle, Akron; George Brown, Hillsboro; A. R. McCullough, Cambridge; Engineering—Walter Braun, Columbus, chairman; F. G. Harrison, Massillon; D. F. Garland, Dayton; T. A. Appell, Akron; Adam Frick, Portsmouth.

RIVER TRAVEL HEAVY

Wheeling, W. Va., July 29.—Passenger travel on the Ohio river is exceptionally heavy this year, according to reports by steamboat operators. Several new packets have entered the Pittsburgh-Cincinnati service this season and steamboat men expect plenty of accommodations to be available.

DRESSED FOR ARCTIC—SUFFERED FROM HEAT!

Kansas City, Mo., July 28.—With the thermometer standing near the 100 mark, Mrs. Elizabeth McColligne, 63, picked up the evening paper and looked over the motion picture ads. All spoke of the Arctic-like condition of the respective show houses, and the ads were garished with frescos of snow and icicles. Mrs. McColligne wanted the cooling comforts of the movie, but she believed in being prepared.

When she started for the movie emporium she was dressed in an astrakhan coat, a woolen cap and a woolen dress over a woolen petticoat. Beneath all was woolen underwear.

The advertisements must have been little off, for Mrs. McColligne didn't find the theatre as cool as expected. In fact, she suffered a heat prostration.

RIGHTHANDER WILL OPPOSE FORKHAND PITCHER WEDNESDAY

Superiority between southpaws and right handers will be decided Wednesday afternoon when the Hooven and Allison nine and Pennsylvania team clash in a twilight Industrial League game at Washington Park.

"Dick" Wells will twirl against Glass, regular Xenia Reserves moundman. Both are former members of the Bowersville Bayliffs pitching staff.

Wells, a portlander, and regular hurler for Washington C. H. in the South-Central Ohio League, will perform for the Ropemakers with Glass pitching for the Pennsylvans.

Wells is an exception to the general rule that left-handers are wild and uncontrollable while Glass is one of the best in the country.

It is also hinted the Wednesday battle will be something of a grudge contest to decide pitching superiority between Wells and Glass. Each hurler has made an enviable pitching record this season and each has his host of admirers.

The Wednesday game is an important one to the H. and A. team which displaced the R. A. Kelly nine as league leaders last week and is on top by a margin of one game. A loss Wednesday would greatly reduce the team's chances of winning the championship of the loop.

SKIN DISEASES IN LEAD IN FACTORIES

Columbus, July 29.—Dermatitis, or skin diseases and lead poisoning comprise the great bulk of occupational diseases contracted by Ohio workers, according to information gained in a five year study of these diseases made public today by Dr. Daniel J. Kindel, chief, and Dr. Emory R. Hayhurst, consultant, of the division of industrial hygiene of the state health department.

Total cases reported in the five-year period were 3,242 of which 2,831 were among men and 411 among women. Of the total 2,604 were cases of dermatitis suffered in rubber factories, with twenty-five other like cases contracted in other industries; and 456 were cases of lead poisoning.

One worker out of seven shown to have contracted an occupational disease was a woman, a study of the records showed.

WATER FAMINE HITS CITY OF JERUSALEM

Jerusalem, July 28.—An average of two gallons of water a day is the most any person in Jerusalem may have at any time from the public supply, and during the present water famine most of the residents of the Holy City have been getting along on an average of less than a gallon a day.

Jerusalem, 6,000 feet above sea level, is dependent for its public water supply on Solomon's Pools, near Hebron, a distance of about twenty miles. The daily supply from this source however, was reduced owing to the unusual drought during last winter to about 60,000 gallons for a population of about 70,000. Jerusalem needs at least 120,000 gallons a day when private cisterns are able to take care of individual householders.

As there is no reserve in the cisterns, the authorities have been forced to start a daily service of special trains from Lod, some fifty miles from Jerusalem, to rush the indispensable supply to the water-famished city.

NEW AIR CUSHIONS PROTECT STREETS

Linköping, Sweden, July 28.—To protect the water mains, gas pipes and house foundations in Swedish cities against cracks caused by vibrations from the growing motor truck traffic, the city engineer of Linköping, Karl K. Adler, has worked out a proposal to construct under the sidewalks continuous "air cushions" of reinforced cement which would take up the shocks. The effects of traffic vibrations have been studied with extreme care by several Swedish engineers who have measured with special instruments the directions of the pressure underground and the total force exerted in each direction. Houses along the narrow streets in Sweden's oldest cities are in special danger.

In view of their findings City Engineer Adler proposes the air cushion system. To safeguard the water mains he would place them inside the concrete conduits under the sidewalks, and in the same space the public service department could place, in addition, all telephone and telegraph cables, gas pipes, electric wires and minor sewers, all of which would thus be more accessible for repairs.

"Twelve years ago I became afflicted with stomach trouble which steadily became worse. I frequently became prostrated with colic attacks and bloating. My doctors wanted to operate for gall stones. I wished to avoid an operation and on advice of a friend tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy with excellent results as since taking it about 2 years ago my trouble has entirely disappeared." CENTRAL HIGH GRID CANDIDATES WILL BE GIVEN FIRST FIELD DRILL ON WEDNESDAY

Grid candidates of Central High School will test the turf at Cox Memorial Athletic Field for the first time Wednesday evening when the backfield, end and center candidates respond to Coach Vic Kolb's first call for outdoor practice.

Weekly skill sessions at the high school gym have given the new athletic mentor an opportunity to impress the rudiments of the game on the green material, and Wednesday evening's session is expected to give the athletes their first opportunity to show how well they imbibed the fundamentals. The candidates will meet at 6:45 o'clock.

With the opening of school nearly two months away, Coach Kolb has had an average of sixteen candidates out for the backfield, end and center positions. This fact argues well for the response he should expect when school opens and the material available now, turns up for initial sessions in preparation for the season. The early sessions are expected to greatly relieve Coach Kolb after the season opens. With his offensive posts taken care of by trained recruits, he will have more time to devote to the line positions that bear the brunt of the battle on the defensive. Thus the summer pigskin school should put the blue and white squad well on its way to a successful season.

Coach Kolb is anxious for former high school stars to look over his talent when he trots his prospects out in public for the first time Wednesday evening. Former performers who are interested in the success of the team are welcome and any suggestions they may care to make tend to the good of the squad, are invited by the new grid director.

ELKS WILL RAISE HALF MILLION TO RESTORE FRIGATE

PORTLAND, Ore., July 28—Elks of the United States are going to see that "Old Ironsides" makes a comeback.

The historic American Navy frigate Constitution is to be restored, and "Brother Bills" plan to raise $500,000 to see that the job is done right.

At the recent grand lodge convention here the delegates approved the plan put forward by James R. Nicholson, of Boston, Mass., past grand exalted ruler of the order.

The drive for funds is on, and Nicholson is in direct charge of the entire fund raising campaign. The fund will be turned over to Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, who will have charge of the repair of the vessel. The purpose of the fund is to comply with an act of the last Congress governing the disposition of the old fighting craft.

Federal Judge William Hawley Atwell, of Dallas, Texas, newly elected grand exalted ruler of the Elks, will make the main address for "Old Ironsides" broadcasting night, October 15. Twenty-eight radio stations will be "hooked up" with Station WBAF, New York, to broadcast the address.

The Navy Department is printing a colored reproduction of the famous frigate which will be suitable for framing. The Elks will present one to every school in the country. Nicholson is working on details for patriotic programs to be distributed throughout the country, which will be handled by State committees and committees within the respective subordinate lodges and other organizations.

It is the desire of the Elks to stress the educational and patriotic lessons of the early history of the American Navy in campaigning for "Old Ironsides." Historic and patriotic aspects of the fighting craft led the delegates to undertake the work. The resolution adopted by the grand lodge follows:

"Be it resolved—
"That this grand lodge does hereby express its deep satisfaction that the Government has again found order an acceptable agency for practical patriotic service. That it heartily approves the prompt response made on behalf of the order by Grand Exalted Ruler Price and indorses the appeal made by him to the members of the order to thus cooperate with the Secretary of the Navy in the restoration of "Old Ironsides," a sacred symbol of Americanism."

THE OLD AND THE VANISHED

When Nature rebuilds she uses a very original method. She discards the old and enters immediately upon construction of the new.

She blazes new trails. She paves new roads. She restores more wisely than she originally built.

I was greatly impressed with the progress of renewal that is taking place on one of the trees in my yard as I looked at it the other day. A great bruise had been made, but Nature has so crept over it that in a few years one will hardly realize that anything has ever been the matter, excepting that the bruised spot will be better protected than any other part of the tree's trunk.

One of the most powerful and eloquent speakers, that America has ever produced was John B. Gough. Yet at one time he was seemingly a hopeless drunkard.

Gough and Wendell Phillips were once traveling together and Gough spoke of how ill prepared for usefulness he was in comparison with the finely educated Phillips. But Phillips immediately replied: "Your great effectiveness and power is the fact that you are as you are," or words to that effect.

The fact is, and always will be, that there is an un-named and mysterious Fate that somehow guides our way, though we use all manner of means to thwart its purpose.

We build upon old and vanished lines. Our very mistakes and blunders harden and pave roads for us that we otherwise might find ourselves too weak or too inexperienced to tread safely.

Nature is kind to the erring and to the bruised.

And God is that way. The path of success is a path of strife and failure in so many cases. We must become hardened to the duties and tasks of life and do as little complaining as possible. It would be so much better a world if people kept all their troubles to themselves, and complained not at all.

CONGRESSIONAL JUNKETS.

DURING recent weeks several vessels have been journeying about the Pacific carrying a delegation of congressmen. These lawmakers have been making what is known in congressional activities as a tour of inspection in the interests of the nation. They visited ports on the Pacific coast, traveled over the Hawaii, a delightful journey aboard a fine vessel, went to Manila to see the sights in the Philippines, then on to Japan, where abundant official entertainment was provided. They have seen and been feasted, been entertained and delighted, it has been a great trip.

However much emphasis may be placed on the claim that it was a tour of inspection, the bald fact that it was a great junket, made very largely at the expense of the American taxpayer, stands out plain and clear as a lighthouse. True, there is a nominal daily charge for each one aboard the vessel, but the cost is less than would be paid for a cheap room at a hotel at home, the national treasury caring for the rest of the actual cost of the junket.

At the same time these men were afloat another delegation of congressman was flitting about, the western part of this country, on another tour of inspection, studying reclamation of waste places, irrigation schemes, great engineering enterprises, conservation of water power and other engineering and scientific problems. Stops were made at the fine hotels around the Grand Canyon, at various cities in California, in the Yosemite, then on through the Yellowstone, an ideal summer tour of America's most interesting points.

Junketing tours at the cost of the nation are one of the outstanding sins of Congress, have been for many years, may be expected to remain in evidence until the taxpayers revolt. Naval improvements under consideration call for the best talent in the navy, engineers, research men, scientific leaders, men of ripe experience and abundant training. In domestic improvements, conservation, irrigation, water, forest protection and development of mineral wealth, the call is for engineering and scientific talent of the highest order. The talent of the uninformed layman would be of trifling or no importance, yet these congressmen have

BRAINS.

BRAINS, says J. H. Barringer, vice-president of the National Cash Register company, are the foundation of all success.

Mr. Barringer rose in ten years from his position as file clerk to his present executive position. It is to be presumed that this almost sensational rise showed Mr. Barringer had brains, but it is also quite as conclusive that he not only used them but diverted them to the proper channels.

Thus there are many, endowed with intelligence and business acumen but are like the man of Bible fame who buried his talent or like those others who devote it to ineffectual purposes.

Of these there are two classes: the dreamer, whose passion for a goal is continually hindered by obstacles over which he labors but slowly and the pervert, who takes his God-given powers of mentality and uses them for mean or base purposes.

A great artist many devote his ability to producing pictures that are morally debasing or he may contribute a masterpiece that will add beauty or spiritual inspiration to the world and win himself undying fame and recognition.

The dreamer may waste his mental powers by lack of will power, drive and determination to force his body to keep pace with his mind. Therefore there are brain strikes which Mr. Barringer says, have greater power to hurt the business world than labor strikes of any denomination.

There is too often the belief that having brains is having an education. On the other hand, brains are God-given to every human. Education merely exercises them and therefore develops them to acute sensitiveness. Where there has been no education, the driver with brains will develop his own mental power to the end that success, which cannot be measured by education, will come just as surely.

MANHOOD

I do not ask to be
Greatest of all the great.
To win the largest fee,
Or own a king's estate,
But through the passing years
And all which God may plan,
Laughter and care and tears
I pray to be a man.

I do not ask that I
Shall never meet with care
Or see a cloud drift by
With only joy my share;
For I would cope with doubt,
And storm and stress and strife,
And from them fashion out
A clean, courageous life.

I do not ask to miss
All tests of care and pain,
I merely ask for this,
Faith for the dark and rain,
Strength for the task which falls,
Wisdom to know the right,

And when the curtain falls
Courage to face the night.

Life is a blended whole,
Mixture of joy and care,
Pleasure may test the soul
Deeply as hurts we bear;
So through the passing years
Marking off our life's span,
Whether in smiles or tears
I pray to be a man.

INCREASING ENTRIES PRESAGE BIG GREENE COUNTY FAIR NEXT WEEK

With entries in all departments being received rapidly by Secretary J. Robert Bryson of the Greene County Agricultural Society indications are that the eighty-sixth annual fair to be held August 4, 5, 6 and 7 will be one of the biggest fair attractions in the state.

Besides the racing, which to many is the most important feature of the fair, and which will be unusually attractive this year, all departments promise to furnish much interest, pleasure and education for their devotees.

Greene County noted for its livestock, will display some of its finest specimens at the fair, and the young folks following their dads in making the county famous for its blooded cattle, sheep and hogs, will show the excellent work accomplished by the Boys' and Girls' Clubs throughout the few years that this work has been in progress.

The cattle department has been placed in the capable hands of L. B. Harnar and F. B. Turnbull, both noted breeders of cattle, men who are able to handle and classify this department and make the offering one of the most attractive to the exhibitors in the state. A. E. Wildman of Selma will judge the beef breeds, which will be shown on Thursday. The dairy breeds will be shown Wednesday with Harry Craig of Oxford as the judge. The outstanding feature of this department is the giving of three premiums with a classification that will allow fifteen shows for each breed. All stock exhibited must be from tuberculin accredited herds or have passed the tuberculin test since January 1, 1925.

In the swine department the classification will permit each breed to take twenty-four prizes, premiums which should induce many breeders to come to the Greene County fair. C. W. Mott of Jamestown is in charge of this department. Ralph A. Postle of Hillsboro will judge the Poland Chinas and the Spotted Poland Chinas. The show will take place Wednesday August 5. Each of these breeds is backed by its county organization with a special show. The prizes for these shows total $50 for each, given by the Greene County Agricultural Society and the respective breed organizations. Howard Gerlaugh of New Carlisle will judge the Durocs, Berkshires, Hampshires and Chester Whites. The Duroc Association, with the help of the agricultural society, is putting on a special show for that breed. All entries must be immuned.

The sheep department under the guidance of Walter St. John carries with it classes for ten of the leading breeds. This department has been changed to allow sweepstakes for each breed, with a classification for champion ram, champion ewe, exhibitor's flock and breeder's flock.

P. W. Artz, of New Carlisle, will judge the sheep Wednesday. "The poultry department has been changed in order to accommodate the genuine poultry raisers, and exclude those who are in the business only to obtain the prize money. There will be many varieties shown from bantams to ducks, exhibiting the year's work of the poultry raisers of this county.

The boys and girls of Greene county who have taken advantage of the Boys and Girls' Club work have profited not only by winning enviable prizes, but have learned how to produce the best poultry, stock, food and clothing, possible. Boys and girls through this work now have the advantage of home teaching enlarged and reduced to scientific principles by experts in their lines. So that now a boy or girl, may not only know how to do as father or mother did, but may accomplish more and in an improved way. The prizes offered for club work includes the club week at Ohio State university in which certain winners are given a week of instruction and entertainment at Columbus which carries with it the value of meeting other such workers both in conference and socially. The money prizes ranging from $1 to $13 are worth striving for. The Greene County Agricultural Society is giving in prizes to this department $150. Among other contributors are: The Xenia Farmers' exchange which gives $20 to be used in sending a food demonstration team to the state fair; The R. A. Kelly Co., which gives $20 to be used in sending a livestock judging team to the state fair; Jobe Brothers and Company which gives $20 to be used in sending a clothing demonstration team to the state fair; The Criterion, $20 to be used in sending a live stock demonstration team to the state fair; The Greene County Pomona Grange gives $25 to be used in obtaining suitable emblems for club members who complete the fourth year club work in 1925; The Eckerle Printing Company gives $10 to be used in obtaining suitable emblems for winning teams in livestock judging and livestock, clothing and food demonstration teams; L. Urshel, Singer Sewing machine agent, $5 to be used in obtaining a suitable banner for the club having the best all around record as an organization. The National Stockman and Farmer, three prizes to the boys' or girls in the livestock clubs having the highest scores; first prize, one three year subscription to National Stockman and Farmer; second prize, one two year subscription and third prize, one year subscription. An elimination contest will be conducted at the fair to select the winning team in food, clothing, livestock and livestock judging. Each winning team with the leader will be sent to the state fair with all expenses paid.

A new department is that of instructional activities in charge of County Superintendent H. C. Aultman. This department is open to the various activities of the county grouped as follows: A. health group; B. safety group; C. educational group; D. Merchant's group; E. Industrial group. A baby show will be held in connection with the health department. In the safety group are included the railroads and auto clubs. The educational group will exhibit what is being done by colleges and high schools; various industries of the county are represented in the industrial group.

Bands are always a feature of the fair, in particular, of the racing. The Cedarville band will start the racing off on Wednesday. Thursday, Company L Band will enliven things and Friday the Greene County Community Band and the New Burlington Band will furnish the music. Mrs. L. H. Jones, only woman member of the fair board, is in charge of the seventh department, needle and miscellaneous work. This department has been carefully revised by experts in needlecraft. The eighth department exhibiting household arts and home economics will continue to be popular. A. E. Lewis is the member in charge. E. S. Tussing of Canal Winchester will judge. In the Grange contest the following premiums will be awarded: first, $125; second, $100; third, $80; fourth, $60; fifth, sixth and seventh, $45 each.

The inter-county quilt tournament to be played under the rules of the Xenia Quilt League will take place Wednesday and Thursday during the fair, commencing at 10 a. m. The purse of $25 will be divided into three moneys.

LEEKES A LA CLAMART

PARIS, July 28—Leekes are poor man's asparagus, according to Anatole France's definition; but, however humble the vegetable is, the French housewife makes a delicious dish of it.

Cook five minutes in a covered casserole. Put into the pan a pint of fresh green peas. Add a large spoonful of butter. Cook with the cover on. Serve hot.

TO MAKE CUT-OFF

Martins Ferry, July 29—The Pennsylvania Railroad has under construction two big cut-offs which are expected to add greatly in hauling coal from Eastern Ohio fields to the Great Lakes. One at Yellow Creek will avoid a haul to Wellsville and then back on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division, while the other will give a more direct route to Canton, this extension being between Bayard and Canton.

MODISH MITZI—It's Mitzi's Birthday

By JAY V. JAY

It's Mitzi's birthday and though she is glad that it doesn't come more often than once a year still there are compensations. Some of the presents haped up about her plate are reasons why any one should not object to growing old. Look at the handsome book purse with brocaded roses on it.

My goodness, someone else thought she needed a bag. This is leather combined with suede with fancy painted trimmings. It is a wonderfully roomy bag—just what she will need for traveling if she travels. Anyway one ought to be prepared.

Two more bags—and the day is just beginning. Do you suppose there will be more? Fortunately they are all different. Somewhere somebody said that every smart costume should have a different bag—well, Mitzi, always could live up to the fashion.

"Imagine Dad," says Mitzi, "all these bags! What in the world will I put in them?" And Dad who has forgotten the date and the day till now has an inspiration to ease his conscience. "Why, this ought to go in one of them to be sure," says he handing over a bill. Well done, Dad, well done!

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Walker Gibney skidded in the grass on side of the road and snatched a telephone pole. He was going to Jamestown fair as part of a Xenia boosting party. He was accompanied by Chester Hinkle, Earl Rakestraw and Leigh Peterson. 10,000 people attended the Jamestown Fair. W. H. Donges, chairman of the Business Men Club reports $785 collected for the 4th of July celebration but only spent $680, balance deposited to credit of the Association. Full force of men put on at the Fuse factory Grand Lodge K of P had to have night session to finish business. Parade was a grand success. Dr. N. T. Pavey returned from Racine, Wis., where he purchased a Light Six Mitchell.

"NOT POSSIBLE TO CLASSIFY" BY MACK SAUER

HIS ONION QUEEN (Episode No. 10)

Hick had often picture Morning Glory in his arms so he framed her and carried her away with him to live on his onion ranch in Nevada. The next day after the married at the ranch Hick was seen going toward the village blacksmith shop with his marriage license.

"Where are you going?" asked his bride.

"I am going to the blacksmith shop with these papers," he replied.

"Are you going to have them forged?" his bride questioned, to which he replied, "No, I am going to have them filed."

That evening they took a stroll through the fields, fragrant with onions. Morning Glory as usual was strong for him and questioned him about his great success.

"When I came to this country thirty years ago, I didn't have a shirt to my back. Now I have accumulated more than a million."

"You'll never wear them all out," said Morning Glory, but Hick informed her that he meant he had accumulated that much money. He then told her how he had practiced economy long before Calvin Coolidge began buying two pairs of trousers with each suit. "Why," said he, "I only run my Ford on three cylinders."

Hick had not been feeling well for several weeks and had been doctoring with a Nevada doctor. That evening the doctor called to see if he was taking the medicine according to directions. Finding Morning-Glory in the kitchen, the doctor asked her about his medicine.

"Well, he may be behind on his pills," said the bride, "but he is six doses ahead with the whiskey."

Just then an aeroplane came sailing overhead.

NEW YORK ATHLETIC COMMISSION DECLARES HEAVY WEIGHT TITLE VACANT IS PROPHECY

By DAVIS J. WALSH
New York July 29—From an authoritative source the writer learned today that the New York State Athletic commission, failing to hear anything further from Jack Dempsey, the well-known man-about-America, will be declare the heavyweight title vacant and order an elimination match between Harry Wills and Gene Tunney.

The action in question may be taken no later than Tuesday next, by which time the commission has signified that it will discover it has been somewhat ignored by our champion.

The commission has heard nothing from Dempsey since that young man walked into its offices several weeks ago, verbally accepted the Wills challenge, made an engagement for the following Tuesday and then began his road work, destination due west. The commission almost feels affronted about the thing.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

Although the human race has become habituated to the use of cooked food, yet it is probable that the best health can never be enjoyed except when a certain amount of uncooked food is also used.

The life-giving elements of food must be, to a certain extent, impaired or destroyed in the process of cooking. Chemical analysis in the laboratory may not disclose any essential change in the make-up of a certain article of diet; but there must nevertheless be some change in the value of the food, just as there is an undeniable change in its digestibility. Some foods can be digested when cooked which are very poorly digested when in their raw state. On the other hand, there is no doubt that those foods which are palatable or digestible in the raw or natural condition lose something which is beyond the power of the chemist to analyze or ascertain when they are cooked.

Something in the way of scientific recognition of this fact has resulted from the discovery of "vitamins." No one as yet seems able to state definitely just what vitamins are. It is only known that certain foods have vitamins and others lack them, and that some vitamins may be destroyed in the process of cooking. It is a curious fact that foods which are the most edible in the uncooked form, including fruits, green salads, milk and eggs, have vitamins in greatest abundance. It may be that the mysterious and elusive elements or qualities, to which has been given this name of vitamins, have something to do with the vitality-giving quality of the uncooked, natural foods.

In actual practice it is found that the well-to-do classes and these are invariably the more healthy classes, eat a larger proportion of uncooked foods, such as fruits, nuts, salads, milk and milk products.

I have tried living entirely on uncooked foods for months at a time. The results are always gratifying. One enjoys a high degree of vitality and energy.
